Assignment: 65750-001
Since 1962, the National Association of College and University Business Officers (NACUBO) has been an indispensable source of clear, trusted knowledge for campus leaders. As the nation’s premier association for higher education business leaders, NACUBO is dedicated to supporting business officers and their essential—and expanding—role in the sector. NACUBO provides a bold voice, collaboration, and resources to tackle higher education’s evolving challenges, and it has been viewed as a valued and critical thought partner as institutions face a range of new challenges including pandemic planning, demographic shifts, and evolving business models, among others.

NACUBO’s Guiding Principles

Vision
Higher education is valued as an outstanding investment.

Mission
To advance the economic vitality, business practices, and support of higher education institutions in pursuit of their missions.

Value Proposition
NACUBO convenes those influencing and advancing higher education, is a catalyst of unmatched knowledge, and is a leading advocate for colleges and universities.

Strategic Priorities
NACUBO’s updated Strategic Blueprint anticipate a dynamic world in which higher education business officers are critical in all future-oriented conversations on their campuses and in their systems.

- Priority 1: Transformations
  Engage higher education institutions in undertaking necessary transformations to strategically position themselves in the dynamic higher education environment.

- Priority 2: Strategic Leadership
  Strengthen the strategic leadership capabilities of business officers and their teams.

- Priority 3: Advocacy and Engagement
  NACUBO is intentionally investing to ensure the association is recognized as a national thought leader that drives policymaking affecting higher education.

Core Programs and Initiatives

- Professional Development
  - Business officers can share insights with peers and sharpen their skills and knowledge through expert instruction at live programs.
  - Members additionally have access to a variety of interactive web-based professional development opportunities, including live and on-demand webcasts, podcasts, virtual events, and self-study courses.

- Advocacy
  - NACUBO’s advocacy team works with legislators and policymakers at the national level to ensure the economic vitality, business practices, and support of higher learning institutions.
o In addition, the federal affairs team follows legislation and policies under consideration in the nation's capital that impact higher education institutions and college students and that are of particular concern to business officers. NACUBO's policy team also advocates on behalf of colleges and universities with the White House and federal agencies.

- Publications and News
  o Current is a weekly e-newsletter sent to more than 34,000 individuals at member organizations that contains news, updates and resources from NACUBO, as well as the federal government, policy groups, and institutions of higher education.
  o NACUBO books and reports cover a wide range of areas relevant to higher education finance and administration.
  o Other subscription services and e-newsletters are available to members and provide the latest insights and resources in the field.
- Benchmarking and Research
  o NACUBO's research team works with the association's policy, advocacy, and professional development staff to produce well-informed and data-driven solutions for NACUBO members. NACUBO members and higher education stakeholders rely on data collected by NACUBO for benchmarking and other analyses to better inform campus decisions.
  o In addition to full-length reports, NACUBO's research team also provides summaries and further analysis of the organization's research through a wide variety of podcasts and webcasts. They are also regular contributors to other policy analysis and NACUBO professional development offerings.
- Networking
  o The NACUBO Annual Meeting is the organization's largest event, offered each summer.
  o The NACUBO Online Community is a space for members to access a variety of resources, explore trending topics, and participate in in-depth discussions.
- Consulting
  o NACUBO Consulting offers expertise, experience, and leadership abilities in service areas including financial and operational assessments, resource optimization and growing net revenue, models and budget forecasting, and support and coaching.

FURTHER INFORMATION
