A key component of UCI’s energy-savings program is its Smart Labs Initiative, which is showcased through the U.S. Department of Energy’s Better Buildings Challenge. Smart Labs is part of the campus’s focus on “deep energy efficiency” — measures that reduce energy use and associated carbon emissions by half or more. These also include interior and exterior lighting upgrades, heating ventilation and air conditioning retrofits, and information technology and data center efficiency projects.